The Deutschland Ambassadors Initiative brings together alumni and friends of various German universities for a series of talks and networking events in the United States. This event is organized by German universities and their liaison offices based in New York. Interested parties are invited to join a growing network of people from diverse backgrounds, ages, and professions who share an interest in Germany.

Science Meets Oktoberfest

The panel discussion “Science Meets Oktoberfest” features alumni of German universities and universities of applied sciences. Ralf Bundschuh, PhD, Professor of Physics, Chemistry & Biochemistry, and Hematology at the Ohio State University, Heike Haddenbrock, Dipl, Principal at German Language School Cleveland and Board Member of the German Language School Conference, Safiya Khurshid, PhD, Postdoctoral Fellow at the Nationwide Children's Hospital, Columbus, OH, Nathaniel Long, Graduate Student, Master of Public Administration at John Glenn College of Public Affairs, Ohio State University, Jacob Naduparambil, PhD, German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) Research Ambassador and Professor in the Department of Radiation Oncology, and Mark. E. Peeples, PhD, Principal Investigator at the Center for Vaccines and Immunity at the Research Institute at Nationwide Children's Hospital, and a Professor of Pediatrics and Molecular & Cellular Biochemistry at the Ohio State University College of Medicine will present their various career paths, highlight the relevance of their studies and research in Germany, and discuss the role Germany plays for them today. Welcoming remarks by the German Consul General (tbc) will precede the panel and a networking reception with beer and bratwurst will follow.

In 2019, Germany is celebrating the Year of German-American Friendship (Deutschlandjahr), knowing that the United States and Germany are Wunderbar Together— stronger as friends and partners. Deutschland Ambassadors Initiative is funded by Germany's Federal Foreign Office. www.wunderbartogether.org
